RS-16B Battery Charger

*File
RD-103
T.O. 10 JW*

This battery charger was designed to charge the RS-16 Field Unit Battery Pack with simplicity of operation and safety to the batteries in mind. The batteries cannot be overcharged due to self regulation of the charger as to voltage and current. The charger will operate properly with line voltage of 95 to 125 volts, 50-60 cycle.

To place battery charger in operation remove cover, exposing line cord, fuse holder, switch and lamps. Operate charger with this cover removed. Select proper line voltage, 115 or 230 volts. The charger is not on until the battery pack is plugged in on top of the charger. The red neon lamp will light when the battery pack is in place.

The Red Bullseye Lamp is to indicate the charge condition of the battery pack. When no illumination is visible from this lamp, the battery pack is at full charge.

Under normal operating conditions there need not be any adjustments necessary. A potentiometer has been incorporated to allow adjustment of full charge voltage of battery pack.

Note: The open circuit voltage for charging an 11 cell battery pack is to be 15.0 volts.
